State Supreme Court Refuses To Oust Kirk WOULD APPLY GRANT FROM GOVERNMENT

BALLOT BOARD, HOWEVER, PLANS PRIMARY VOTE

Will Proceed With Aug. 9 Arrangements Unless Halted by Court

BALLOTS ALREADY OUT, SAYS CLERK

Proceeds Under Instructions of Prosecuting Attorney Stouffer

The Ohio Supreme Court at Columbus, in a decision made public today, refused to oust Lloyd C. Kirk as county engineer and give the job to Robert S. Wheatley of Salineville, who filed the action.

But, in spite of this ruling, which decrees that Kirk shall continue in office, there will be a primary vote on Aug. 9 at which Republicans and Democrats will select nominees for the general election in November, unless court action, in the meantime, intervenes.

This was the announcement by R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the Columbiana county board of elections, who, informed of the high court's action, said:

"The board of elections, acting under instructions of its legal advisor, Prosecuting Attorney Karl Stouffer, is proceeding with arrangements for nominations by both Republicans and Democrats at the Aug. 9 primaries. Ballots have already been issued, in fact, and the voting will go on as scheduled unless some agency acts to stop it."

Kirk, Republican, seeking reelection, was defeated two years ago by Wheatley, a Democrat. Kirk then instituted suit to remove Wheatley on the ground that Wheatley, at the time of election, was not a registered engineer. He was successful in his action.

The county commissioners then ruled the office vacant, appointed Wheatley as engineer and the latter received a commission from the state. Kirk, however, refused to yield the office.

W.C.T.U. Planning Infirmary Program

The W. C. T. U., meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. R. Stratton, East Eighth st., completed arrangements for the annual program at the Columbiana county home.

The entertainment will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday, July 17, with all unions of the county participating. The Salem group is in charge of the affair. Rev. and Mrs. John Guy of the Nazarene church and Mrs. Samuel Shannon of the Salvation Army will take part in the program.

The county W. C. T. U. picnic will be held Aug. 3 at Centennial park, when Salem members will entertain units of the county and those of Damascus and Winona.

Kirk Is Winner

Lloyd C. Kirk today refused to oust Lloyd C. Kirk as county engineer, in an action brought by Robert S. Wheatley, who sought to have the office declared vacant.

DEFENDS STAND ON RELIEF BILL

Senator John Taylor Puts Anti-Alien Blame On Governor

Defending his vote on the Myers relief bill (House Bill 740) against charges that his action was "un-American and prejudiced," Senator John Taylor, addressing a Saxon rally at the Saxon Country club last night, declared that Governor Martin L. Davey, rather than the legislature, was responsible for the anti-alien sentiment expressed in the bill.

"The original copy," Taylor said, "was presented to the legislature as an 'administration' bill. On line 50 it says, 'No alien shall be entitled to relief.' That was the governor's own bill. The senate added, 'until he declares his intention of becoming a citizen.'"

Senate Gave Opportunity

"In other words, the governor was the one who objected to aliens receiving relief, as evidenced by his own bill, and the senate at least gave the alien the opportunity by simply permitting him to declare his intentions."

"This problem of relief is a big problem," Taylor asserted. "It is too easy to get, and with so many refugees in Germany, Austria and Spain looking toward America for their future homes, we must be careful not to encourage them to come by making relief too easy to get. We have enough to do to take care of our own people who are out of work without inviting all the refugees of the world to come here and participate."

"The governor vetoed this bill and wrote a very nice message in which he set himself up as a friend to unnaturalized citizens. The message was the best example of political demagoguery I have ever witnessed because the real reason for the veto was another amendment which required that the relief director appointed by the governor receive the consent of the senate."

Wanted Own Director

"The real truth of the matter is that the governor wanted a relief director of his own who would make the relievers go out and vote for him—or else, the same as he is doing with the old age pensioners and employees of the state."

Court To Recess Until September

LISBON, July 13.—At the close of common pleas court on Friday evening, court will suspend until September. However, Judge W. F. Lones will be in court certain days of each week to hear motions and make entries in cases.

Thieves Pay Visit To Lisbon Quarry

LISBON, July 13.—The sheriff's office this morning investigated the theft of a quantity of copper wire and a 250 ampere electric switch at the Smallwood stone quarry, one mile northwest of Lisbon on the Logtown road.

HUGHES LEAVES SIBERIA ON 5TH LEG OF FLIGHT

American Airman, Companions Off for Fairbanks, Alaska

STAY AT YAKUTSK ONLY SHORT TIME

Fliers Far Ahead of Time Set By Late Wiley Post In 1933

(By Associated Press)
YAKUTSK, Siberia, July 13.—Howard Hughes took off for Fairbanks, Alaska, at 9:01 p. m. tonight (7:01 a. m. in Salem) on the fifth leg of his attempt to set a new record for round-the-world flight.

The American airman and his four companions had remained at Yakutsk only two hours, 53 minutes after completing their 2,177-mile hop from Omsk, western Siberia.

Hughes planned to make Yakutsk his last stop in Soviet Russian territory. He plotted a course of 2,456 miles to Fairbanks, across the northeastern tip of Siberia and the Bering sea.

Emergency Preparations

However, preparations for an emergency landing have been made at Anadyrsk in case of necessity. Leaving Yakutsk just 60 hours 41 minutes after their takeoff from New York and with two-thirds of the flight completed, Hughes and his companions were far ahead of the time of the late Wiley Post, who girdled the globe alone in seven days, 18 hours, 49 minutes in 1933.

Post flew a different course across Siberia, but his takeoff from Khabarovsk, approximately the same distance from New York as Yakutsk, came 113 hours 58 minutes after his New York takeoff. He stopped at Khabarovsk only two hours, 13 minutes.

Anadyrsk is a little more than 1,400 miles northeast of Yakutsk. From there the direct route to Fairbanks would take Hughes close to the narrowest part of the Bering strait, where only 60 miles of water separates Soviet and American territory. The district between Yakutsk and Bering strait, however, is one of the wildest parts of Siberia.

Good Weather Ahead

Reports of good weather were received from pilots as far as the Bering strait, but fog and rain were reported on the Alaskan side. Hughes' flight headquarters on the World's Fair grounds, New York, announced receipt of a message sent from the plane at 8:22 a. m., giving its position as 64 north latitude, 137.05 east longitude, over the Cherski mountains, or about 300 miles east of Yakutsk.

Consider Requests For Flood Wall At Two River Cities

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Public Works Administration considered today an application for funds to build a flood wall at Portsmouth and New Boston.

Col. William Snow of the army engineers said construction could be started almost immediately after payment of money. The wall would augment present flood defenses which protect Portsmouth from a 62-foot Ohio river stage.

The project, estimated to cost $5,000,000, was authorized by the 1938 flood control act which made no appropriation.

City councils of Portsmouth and New Boston adopted resolutions requesting $1,500,000 from the PWA to begin the work. This would enable army engineers to have the project well underway pending an appropriation from congress.

PWA spokesmen said the project plans would be given prompt attention.

Hockaday Adjudged Insane by Doctors

WICHITA, Kan., July 13.—Woody Hockaday, 53-year-old eccentric who rushed President Roosevelt's car at Oklahoma City Saturday, was adjudged insane in probate court Tuesday and ordered committed to the state hospital at Larned.

Hockaday had said he "wanted to shine the President's shoes."

Probate Judge Clyde M. Hudson acted on a complaint signed by Hockaday's wife.

Hockaday has been widely known for various escapades in several cities since 1925—including feather-scattering sorties against Harry Woodring, secretary of war, and Father Charles Coughlin.

Hughes' Planned Globe-Circling Route

Above—Here is a map of Howard Hughes' projected route on his around-the-world flight. Barring mishaps, Hughes planned to complete the trip after being in the air about 770 hours, with total stopovers of about 20 hours. The globe-circling record, set by the late Wiley Post, is 7 days and 18 hours.

Davey Aid Takes Punch At Senator Metzbaum

(By Associated Press)
FREMONT, July 13.—A forcibly averted first-swinging attack on James Metzbaum, aspirant to the lieutenant governorship, punctuated Ohio's bitter Democratic primary campaign today.

"Hardly had the oath of office been administered to the present governor in his first term before there came to Columbus a great throng of shakedown men," Metzbaum told last night's Democratic rally and ex roared at the Sandusky county fair grounds.

Harry J. Halper, Metzbaum's primary opponent and state housing commissioner, jumped between the rivals, Halper tried several times to swing at Metzbaum before he was persuaded to go back to his seat. Metzbaum, counsel this year for a special senate committee which inquired into the Davey administration, quickly concluded his address.

Gov. Martin L. Davey, who spoke afterward, told the Democrats this was "the greatest insult ever made to a governor of the State of Ohio. This is the most unusual meeting I have attended in 25 years of public life. It never occurred to me when I accepted the invitation that the governor of Ohio would be insulted by a little whipper-snapper like him." For 15 minutes, Davey berated Metzbaum.

Halper, when he reached the speakers' platform, said "I'm sorry I did it, but I did not think it proper for a candidate to come on the platform and smear the highest officials in the state."

Chicago Kidnaper Will Be Executed In Electric Chair

CHICAGO, July 13.—John Henry Seadlund counted off the last fleeting 24 hours of his life today. Society is taking his life in the electric chair at a minute after midnight for the kidnapping of Charles S. Ross.

Seadlund, 27 years old, has been resigned to his fate for many weeks. U. S. Marshal W. H. McDonnell set the execution for 12:01 a. m. (CST) tomorrow.

Witnesses will include Martin Ward, assistant federal district attorney who prosecuted Seadlund; four other citizens, reporters for three news services, three doctors, the Cook county sheriff and jail warden and eight assistants.

Born in Ironton, Minn., July 27, 1910, Seadlund was a woodsman and mechanic until he went outside the law.

CHARLES PIKE IS FOUND DEAD

Coroner Rules Suicide In Death of Prominent Lisbon Farmer

LISBON, July 13.—Coroner Arnold Devon ruled suicide in the death of Charles C. Pike, 56, prominent farmer and dairyman, whose body was found hanging from a tree on his farm, just north of here on the Lisbon road, at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The coroner said death was due to strangulation and attributed ill health to the action. Mr. Pike was missed when he failed to appear for supper. A son, Robert, 16, and a neighbor, Ralph Levston, 19, found the body in a woods north-east of the barn.

Born in Lisbon July 11, 1883, he was the son of L. B. and the late Mrs. Emma Walters Pike. He had been a farmer for the last 17 years and operated a milk route in the village. Prior to farming, he worked with his father in operating a garage here. He was a member of the Methodist church.

His first wife, Mrs. Etta Mae Adams Pike, died in March, 1937. Last March he married Mrs. Kathryn Lewis Hall, who now survives, along with two sons, Robert, at home, and Charles, student at Ohio State university; two daughters, Mrs. James Rossell of Columbus, Mrs. Allen Webber of Lisbon; his father, L. B. Pike of Lisbon; two brothers, George W. of Akron, David of San Francisco; one sister, Mrs. Frank Grant of East Liverpool and two grandchildren. He was a brother of the late J. O. Pike, who was first treasurer of Columbiana county.

A private funeral service will be held at 1:30 p. m. Friday at the home in charge of Rev. C. W. Kennedy, pastor of the Methodist church. Burial will be in Lisbon cemetery.

The body will be removed from the Eells parlors to the home where friends may call anytime.

Welfare Employees Receive Salaries

COLUMBUS, July 13.—State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley said Tuesday that welfare institutional employees were being paid their June salaries as tax collections continued to trickle into the state's general revenue fund.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson declared a fortnight ago that the employees' checks probably would be delayed because of lack of money.

The auditor's office today confirmed that checks were being sent out, but the amounts and the number of employees affected were not available.

Democrats To Rally In East Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, July 13.—Columbiana and district Democrats will attend a meeting here at 8 p. m. Thursday to hear talks by Congressman Lawrence Imhoff and Miss Marie Krim of Martins Ferry.

The meeting has been arranged by the Eastern Ohio Democratic club of which Ferguson kind of East Liverpool is president. Invitations have been extended to Democrats in Salem, Wellsville, Lisbon, Lorton, East Palestine and Columbiana.

Suggests $88,000 PWA Grant for City Hall Be Used at Waterworks; Plan Includes Electric Generator, Water Softener

$48,400 SET AS CITY'S SHARE

Use of Water Funds Draws Opposition at Council's Meeting With Civic Group; Estimates of Costs Are Questioned

A proposal that the PWA grant of $88,000 for a new city hall be transferred to the waterworks department for the installation of an electric generator and filtration plant, with provisions for a water softener, were discussed at a meeting of city council, sitting as a committee of the whole, in council chambers last night.

Attending the conference were representatives of the Manufacturers association, Business bureau, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

The city's share of the $88,000 cost would be $48,400 to be taken out of the water fund. That fund at present amounts to between $41,000 and $42,000. The balance of the city's share, according to the plan presented last night, would come from anticipated income from the waterworks plant.

In explaining the proposal as he had worked it out, City Engineer P. S. Barkhoff said the city's share would include $12,000 for a new boiler and stoker at the waterworks pumping station, $25,000 for a generator and $51,000 for a filtration and water-softening plant.

Two-million Gallon Maximum
All this equipment would be installed in the present pumping station with some additional construction necessary. The new plant would be designed for a maximum of two million gallons a day, but set up to operate for a pumping load of one and a half millions. The present average pumping is one million gallons a day, with short peaks at 1,700,000 gallons.

Power would be generated to operate the disposal plant, furnish current for the street lights and provide power for pumping part of the city wells. Barkhoff explained that it would not be possible to substitute turbines at the air-lift wells.

The engineer presented figures to show that all this could be accomplished without increasing the present cost of operations in the water department. He stated that the coal bill and power bills to operate the disposal plant, street lights and waterworks today are costing the city $14,900 a year.

The city is buying its power from the Ohio Edison company for 1.6 cents per k. w. h. and Barkhoff estimated that the city could produce its own power for 1.1 cents.

Under the proposed set-up he estimated fuel, additional labor and maintenance cost at $9,950 a year. Cost of softening the water he estimated at $3,653 a year, bringing the degree of hardness from 18 grains to 6 grains, although he said he thought 8 grains would be sufficient.

Eliminates Iron Oxide

The filtration, which would take the iron oxide (which causes a muddy appearance) and sulphur out of the water and would permit the use of wells in the Smith field which the state health department has refused to approve without filtration.

Included in the $88,000 which this program would provide would be funds for drilling one or two additional wells, one of which Barkhoff proposes to drill at the end of W. Fifth st. He would thus be seeking an increased supply and the development of new sources of city water in order to abandon at least one well which is expensive to operate.

He explained that one of the city's main problems in getting a water supply today is the excessive cost of pumping some of the wells.

E. Liverpool Mayor Fights Lotteries

EAST LIVERPOOL, July 13.—Police clamped down the lid on lottery rackets here today. Three arrests were made.

Under Mayor Lee Copan's order to enforce a ban on the "numbers" business, operated by three Ohio valley syndicates, Chief of Police Hugh McDermott assigned Captain J. Norman McFarland and four patrolmen, in plain clothes, to watch suspected centers of operations.

Guilford Reunion

The fourth Guilford school reunion will be held at the school house on Sunday, at which time all pupils and teachers are expected to be present.

A picnic dinner will be served at noon. The committee, headed by Lorena Arter, has arranged an interesting program for the afternoon.

STILL A GOOD STUNT

It's still a good stunt to fly non-stop from New York to Paris, 11 years after Charles A. Lindbergh blazed the trail.

Americans are justifiably proud of their flying countrymen and their equipment. They hope the globe girdling expedition led by Howard Hughes will have as good luck as the Post-Gatley expedition had in 1931 and as Wiley Post had when he did the same thing alone in 1933. Americans are the copyright owners of the adventure.

They're aware of the fact that such flights are stunts. Sometimes they even go so far as to frown on them for that reason. But it's a thought worth having that at a time when the world's full of stunts, globe circling is welcome diversion from such adventurous antics as civil wars, land grabs and unholy military alliances.

The Hughes expedition doesn't have a thing to sell but goodwill for the New York world's fair, and it's giving that away for the fun of the thing.

HOMER MARTIN'S WAY

Without pretense of knowing anything about the internal problems of the organization which Homer Martin serves as president, many unionists and non-unionists have a hunch he has the right idea for solving all such problems.

He begins by telling what the problem is. In his case, it's the well known Communist method of "boring from within" labor organizations to advance the doctrine of communism and the interests of the Communist party. He admits his union is a victim of its communist minority.

Then Mr. Martin, having stated where he stands, takes action. Perhaps the "purge," which he told a Canton audience last Sunday has just started, isn't a good way to advertise the unity and strength of United Auto Workers. But it's the best way in the world to prove that the union, officially, is willing to clean its own house, an example rare enough to attract a lot of sympathetic attention.

MONOPOLY: WHAT IS IT?

Defining the term is a good way to open a discussion. By the time satisfactory definitions have been devised, most of the points of confusion will have vanished.

Members of the federal committee to investigate monopoly and things in general seem willing to admit they don't know what monopoly is. That's a good way to begin. If they can make the public realize that monopoly, like the word "red," usually is employed to designate something which someone else would like to get rid of, the investigation will have paid for itself.

There are good and bad monopolies—natural and artificial ones. There are monopolies helpful to customers and monopolies which are hurtful. All these things the members of the committee apparently are willing to admit at the outset.

For the first time since Teddy Roosevelt rattled the skeleton it's possible the intellectual, instead of the political, approach to the problem of monopoly is going to be used. There's a fighting chance for the country to learn something about its business structure.

THE TROUBLE WITH PREPAREDNESS

Americans try hard to take a lively interest in preparedness and heaven knows they spend enough money on it, but there's something lacking.

They don't have a sufficient motive. They're like prizefighters shadow boxing; they can't get their heart into it. "Whom are we going to fight?" they keep asking.

Premier Mussolini, who has his finger on everything that's happening abroad, says the communists and fascists must fight one another—and that should keep them busy a long time.

All the latest news from Japan is that the warriors of the rising sun are going to be hysterically busy in China for a long time to come.

The Canadians seem to be in a good humor, and the Mexicans aren't threatening to surge northward. Yet, judged by announcements such as the one that the war department is going to spend $10,000,000 in the next five years teaching manufacturers how to build war equipment, it might seem that the battle of Armageddon is just around the corner.

Increasingly, Americans are wondering who's getting ready to invade these shores. They could leap into the preparedness harness with a better will if they were cut in on the secret.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, July 14

Rather conflicting planetary directions are predominant on this day. While there may be definite benefit from diligence, industry and close application to dependable matters in hand, yet there may be lures of a rather speculative nature that will have surprising and devastating angles. Fraud or duplicity seem imminent, particularly in connection with writings, publishing or untried finance. The old rut and beaten path are safer.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for success and some measure of recognition if they will be content with the old order, involving meritorious labor, application and attention to details and system, rather than flights into untried fields or speculative enterprises. Writings, publishing and correspondence are in jeopardy. Definite change, adventure or romance might prove devastating.

A child born on this day, although having definite talents, ingenuity, skill and versatility, may have certain mental quirks, temperamental proclivities or eccentricities which might prove detrimental to its success unless such tokens of "genius" be bent in the proper direction.

GOVERNMENT STEPS UP SPENDING PACE

WASHINGTON, July 13 — The government stepped up its spending pace today to the record peacetime average of $24,890,000 a day ordered by President Roosevelt. This is $3,613,000 a day more than last year's average.

The President revised his January budget estimates for the fiscal year which began July 1 in order to account for the emergency relief and public works programs. He calculated the treasury would collect only $5 for every $9 it spent, piling up a deficit of about $4,000,000,000.

For relief alone, he said, $2,135,000,000 would be needed—enough to support 3,000,000 persons on WPA rolls until next spring.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated a belief that business would improve enough to taper off the relief load in March.

He estimated, however, that $500,000,000 must be voted by congress to carry relief expenditures from March 1 to next July 1. It appropriated funds for only the first eight months of the fiscal year.

Salient estimates in the revised budget broke many records, including: Public debt—To rise from current $37,200,000,000 to all-time high of $40,650,000,000 by June 30, 1939.

Expenditures—To increase $1,319,000,000 above last year's figure to record peacetime total of $9,085,157,600.

Receipts—To decrease $1,241,000,000 from last year's total to $5,000,270,000.

Deficit—To increase $2,560,000,000 from last year to a gross of $4,084,887,600. Excluding debt retirement it would be $3,984,887,600. This was exceeded in peacetime only in 1936, when the soldiers' bonus was paid.

Borrowing—Between $2,100,000,000 and $2,805,000,000 to be borrowed from the public this year, compared with a net decrease of $377,000,000 in privately-owned treasury securities last year.

National defense—To increase $76,000,000 from last year to a record peacetime total of $1,050,000,000. Interest on debt—To increase $50,000,000 to a record total of $976,000,000.

The President, commenting briefly on the figures, said his estimates last January were based on a belief business would improve sooner than is now in prospect. He added:

"Business conditions not only did not improve, but gradually grew worse. This made it necessary to request additional appropriations to provide work relief for the unemployed and to lay out a program of federal public works which would not only aid the unemployed but would at the same time provide a needed stimulus to business.

"The business recession will likewise affect our revenues for the fiscal year 1939 and they will be materially lower and our expenditures much greater than were expected seven months ago."

CAIRO—The football has replaced the rifle and spear for some Bedouin tribes. Visitors returning from Tarim, southern Arabia, report that many Bedouins have become enthusiastic soccer fans and now fight out their battles on football pitches. The practice is being officially encouraged.

PAINESVILLE—Six receipts, almost 100 years old were discovered in some old furniture by E. L. Cunningham. One of them dated Feb. 19, 1840, is for a load of wood valued at 75 cents to be exchanged for a subscription to the Painesville Telegraph from Feb. 10 to July 25, 1840.

AIR'S VISIBILITY
WILL BE TESTEDExperiments Planned To Determine Transparency of Air

TARBES, Hautes Pyrenees—Using one of the world's largest electric lamps with a power of more than 50,000 candlelight, scientists from France and Czechoslovakia are preparing a series of important experiments on the transparency of the atmosphere. The experiments will be carried out in the Upper Pyrenees mountains in the south of France and will be centered in the French astronomical observatory on the Pic du Midi.

Installation of the giant projector has just been completed in one of Europe's highest and most inaccessible observatories. Blocked for nine months each year by heavy snowfalls and constant mists the installation of the material for this summer's experiments required more than a year. On the Pic du Midi station there has been set up the lamp and a small 15 horsepower electrical plant, a short wave sending and receiving set for immediate communication with the receiving station.

The observatory is headed by the astronomer Garrigue, Lutz and Taule, and contains material for meteorological studies, terrestrial magnetism, a seismograph and astronomical equipment. Until the radio sets were installed recently these men were completely cut off from the outer world for almost nine months each year, the nearest village being 12 hours on foot in the dry summer months and inaccessible in winter.

To complete the experiments of atmospheric transparency a second station has been installed 40 miles distant on a peak of Pyrenees in the upper Arriege valley. This station is supervised by Dr. Link of the Prague Observatory and Dr. Guth of the University of Prague. Both are spectroscopist experts and will run the giant spectroscope at the receiving end of the giant light beam.

Experiments will begin in earnest in July when summer weather makes the high mountain atmosphere particularly clear. The beam of light will be projected through 60,000 meters of air space and the spectroscope will register atmospheric density. Measures will be made in varying periods of weather in order to measure and see if former theoretic calculations on atmospheric density are correct. The experiments are among the first accurate checks and are expected to contribute valuable information to physicists and astronomers.

Less To Eat And More
To Drink, Summer Rule

FOOD FOR children in the summer is essentially no different from their food at any other time of year. As the old doctor's slogan, which we quoted yesterday, went: "Less to eat and more to drink in the summer," it about sums up all the wisdom of summer diet. The drink may include sweet drinks, like lemonade and pop and fruit juices which furnish easily assimilable energy in the form of simple sugars. These will furnish the power for all the extra running around and play of the summer months.

The basic principles of a child's diet are:

First, that there shall be plenty of milk. Milk is the fundamental for a growing organism.

Second, eggs. Milk is not a completely perfect food and does not supply all the protein necessary.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

sary for a growing child. It is also deficient in iron. Eggs supplement meat in these respects. Should a child have meat? There is no proof that meat is injurious to a child, but it is thought to be specifically heating, so perhaps it had better be cut down or eliminated in the summer. It does not contain as much of the minerals and vitamins as eggs and milk.

Vegetables and Fruits
Third, vegetables and fruits. For young children pureed vegetables and juices; for older ones, whole vegetables and fruits are must articles. Include a green leafy vegetable and a yellow or alternate days. Potatoes are good for children and are a valuable source of iron and vitamins B and C.

Cereals are an economical source of energy for children—thus good foods summer as well as winter. Whole milk is better on cereals for children than cream. A child does not need too much fat. It is probably better for a child to eat the cereal without sugar.

Butter is the most easily digested fat, but it should not be given to children in large quantities because too much fat tends to retard digestion. Just enough butter to go on bread and vegetables is needed.

Should children eat sweets? With a well-balanced diet, including fruits and fruit juice drinks, a child will have all the sugar he needs. Sugar has the quality of blunting the appetite so that foods needed for growth are not eaten.

Editor's Note: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendenning can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CHAPTER XXX

"I see, so that's the way of it, but if you had this bright idea of collecting Sallust's papers why didn't you tell the Chief what you meant to do?"

Sabine suddenly straightened herself. "I am answerable to him and not to you."

"Got the papers?"

"I'd just finished searching the place. There isn't a thing here that matters. He evidently keeps any papers he has somewhere else."

"Right then. We'll be moving. I can't believe your story and I doubt if the Chief will either; but he's mighty anxious to see you again and put you through it. Come on, get downstairs to the car."

Sabine hesitated only a second. Gregory would be returning soon. How could he possibly overcome three armed men if he were taken by surprise by them on entering his sitting room. They believed him dead, but if they found that their last attempt upon him had failed, they were capable of shooting him out of hand, and they had thought upon their automatics. The thought of trying to explain her movements under the steady gaze of Lord Gavin's soulless eyes terrified her, but Gregory's life lay in the balance.

When he drew up before the house a few minutes later a large car was disappearing round the corner of the street. Upstairs he found the packed and ready, but no sign of Sabine. He called aloud for her but there was no response. The flat was empty. With a bitter, hopeless feeling of distress he suddenly realized that, for some incomprehensible reason, she had changed her mind and left him once again.

Except for the packed suitcase and the crumpled bed, where Sabine had been sleeping when he arrived, her presence there might have been dream. He was faced again by exactly the same problem as that which he had battled with on his way back from Scotland Yard an hour and a half earlier. Should he risk wrecking the whole of the police campaign by going down to Quex Park and either cajoling or forcing Sabine to cross the Channel with him, before she was arrested, or must he take a chance upon being able to get her out of trouble later, so that the police might have a free hand to round up the whole of Gavin Fortescue's organization in one swift move?

In any case, it seemed that so ahead a man as Gavin Fortescue would have seen the red light and would, therefore, bring his operations to a close, either that coming night or the next; before the new moon came in. On one or other of them the chances were he would lead those men who might do such incalculable harm to the peace and prosperity of Britain.

Between the two necessities—for getting that dire calamity and saving Sabine from prison—Gregory rocked mentally as he sat with his head buried in his hands. It was the most distressing problem he had ever had to face and he could reach no definite decision.

At last he got slowly to his feet and began to dress his clothes from his sore back and chest. The police net would not close until the following night at the earliest; that fact alone seemed reasonably certain. Therefore he still had a good twelve hours in front of him before he need make the final plunge one way or the other. Ordinarily he was a man of quick decisions, but in this case he felt the old adage "sleep on it" was true wisdom.

Five hours later he entered Superintendent Marrowfat's room, punctual to the minute; spick and span again and ready to cope with any situation.

Wells was already there and Sir Pellinore arrived almost on Gregory's heels. Marrowfat nodded a cheerful good morning and, as they sat down, pushed a telegram across his table towards them.

"They'll be out again tonight," he said. "Though we're not quite certain where, yet. It looks as if they mean to use a base we haven't tumbled to."

Gregory picked up the telegram. How did you get this? he asked.

"Usual way," the Superintendent grinned. "We tipped off the Post Office to let us have copies of any telegrams which came through for Mitbloom & Allison."

Gregory read out the message: "Mitbloom 43 Barter Street London E.1. Tenth 21 33 Corot."

Wells held a slip of paper in his hand. "According to the key you worked out last night from Ariel's songs, that means:

"Full fathom five thy father lies; His time doth take."

Doesn't seem to make sense, does it?"

Gregory sat thoughtful for a moment then he said: "Full fathom five thy father lies sounds like another base, as you suggest. Somewhere on the coast, I suppose, but where goodness knows!"

"I take it to mean some place where the water remains five fathoms deep even at low tide," said the Superintendent. He spread out a large scale map of Kent and all four men bent over it.

"In that case it can be nowhere on the seacoast," Sir Pellinore remarked, "but there are plenty of places round Sheppey or in the channel of the Medway, running up to Chatham, that are quite close inland and never less than five fathoms."

"That's about it, sir," Wells nodded. "There's any number of quiet spots among all those islands; but which is it? That's the question."

"Why should they mention the depth of the water?" Gregory spoke thoughtfully. "I wonder if Gavin Fortescue is employing fast motor boats as well as planes to land his cargoes. It's a possibility, you know; when the contraband is of a heavy nature."

"That's a fact," agreed the Superintendent, "and the second number, 33, should give us the nature of the cargo, shouldn't it? It doesn't offer much to go on though; his time—doth—take. Time is about the only word in it worth thinking about."

"Clocks, my friend," announced Sir Pellinore quietly, "and watches. Those are the things by which we tell the time, aren't they? There's quite a high duty on them, too, and they would certainly constitute a heavy cargo."

"By jove, you're right, sir," Wells backed him up. "They're landing a cargo of clocks at some place in the Thames Estuary where the channel is never less than five fathoms deep at low tide."

For a moment they stood silent round the table, then the Superintendent said: "If only we knew the place I'd pull them in tonight. Since Lord Gavin caught Mr. Sallust and Wells he must know we've been watching some of his people, although he's probably not aware yet that we have the Park under observation. He may decide to quit any moment now and, as the new moon's on the 12th, this may be the last cargo he'll chance running."

The grip of Gregory's muscular hands tightened a little on the arms of his chair. The Superintendent was no fool and summed up the position precisely as he had himself a few hours before. That made it more imperative than ever that he must make up his mind what he intended to do about Sabine.

"You might raid the Park and get Gavin Fortescue tonight in any case," suggested Sir Pellinore. "After all he is the center of the whole conspiracy."

The Superintendent shook his big head. "I'd rather work it the other way, Sir. If we nab him first it may prevent him giving some signal which is the O. K. for his men to run their stuff. Then we'd lose the bulk of them. Far better let them land, take them redhanded, and then bring in Lord Gavin immediately afterwards."

"Have you had any news from the Park?" Gregory enquired.

"Nothing that's of any help to us," Wells looked up quickly. "My man Simmons rang up early this morning to say Mademoiselle Sabine had slipped off on her own round about midnight; telephoned from Birchington and then hired a car in which she drove away towards London. She turned up there again this morning though, just before eight, in a different car and three men were with her. The Limper was one of them."

Gregory remained poker-faced at this piece of information. So she had gone back to Gavin Fortescue, but why had three of the others been with her? It flashed into his mind that perhaps she had not gone back to Quex Park of her own free will and that they had been sent to get her. But if that were so how had the Limper and his men discovered where she was. It was more probable, he considered, that Sabine, having no car of her own, had taken the early train to Canterbury and then telephoned for them to fetch her.

While the rest were poring over the map of the Thames Estuary and discussing the most likely spots where a landing might be effected at low tide Sir Pellinore and Gregory left the conference room together.

From Scotland Yard they crossed Whitehall, entered St. James's Park at Birdcage Walk and, turning left, crossed the Horse Guards Parade towards Carlton House Terrace. They did not exchange a word as they walked on side by side; until they reached Waterloo steps and were ascending them towards the terrace.

"You'll lunch with me?" asked Sir Pellinore. "That will pass a little of the time while we're waiting."

"Thanks, I'd like to. Do you think they'll raid Quex Park tonight?"

"I haven't a doubt of it. Marrowfat is not a fool and Gavin Fortescue must realize by now that the tide is running swiftly against him. He's probably making his prepara-

Crime Commissions Aid Police

Crime commissions are coming to the fore as an invaluable adjunct of law forces in reducing crime. Working independently of constituted authorities, these civic bodies help to expedite justice, improve penal conditions and cut down causes of crime. Both Baltimore and New York have model groups of this kind. In New York the commission, headed by Harry Guggenheim, has been of great help in cleaning up rackets and furthering the work of such as Thomas Dewey, district attorney. Baltimore's commission is the oldest in the United States, having been at work since 1923. More than a score of large cities and a dozen states now have privately financed organizations aiding in law enforcement.

tion for departure at this moment. If the police don't rope him in tonight they will have lost an opportunity which may not recur for months to come."

"In that case I may not be with you."

Sir Pellinore grunted. "I had an idea that might be so. You're a clever fellow, Gregory, and I doubt if they spotted anything at the Yard, but I know you so well. You're worried about that young Hungarian baggage, aren't you?"

"I am," Gregory agreed. "Damnably worried. If they pull her in with the rest of the gang she'll be sent to prison."

"I know, I know," Sir Pellinore broke in. "I would do anything in my power to save her from that if I could, but even my influence is not sufficient to secure a free pardon for her unless she is prepared to turn King's Evidence."

They did not speak again until they had entered the house and were seated in the big library overlooking the Mall. There again they fell silent while they drank the champagne the butler had brought, until Sir Pellinore said at last with a swift look at his guest:

"Well, what're you going to do?"

"Go down and get her out before they raid the place tonight."

"You're taking a pretty nasty

ITALY'S STATUS CAUSES WORRIES

French Ponder Over Gap Between Two Nations Growing Wider

PARIS, July.—The perennial fear of a rapidly falling birthrate and a diminishing population assails the French again, but this time anxious eyes are turned toward Italy.

Strained relations in the Mediterranean and the imminent danger of three frontiers to guard instead of one has made a giant out of the normal population problem, and one that is causing great concern to government and army chiefs.

The alarming situation is portrayed in a current bulletin issued by the French National Alliance against depopulation which treats the Italian problem for the first time since 1916 when Italy did an about face and became an ally of France. This study backs up the current diplomatic and military strain between the two countries with threatening population statistics which reveal that already Italy is far in the lead.

Today France counts a population of 41,000,000, of whom 1,000,000 are Italian emigrants and 1,500,000 from other countries. To this Italy has a population of 43,000,000 of whom only 150,000 are foreigners, and has in addition large colonies planted in other countries totaling more than 3,000,000.

Disparity To Continue

The disparity in birth rate is even greater, France registering only 615,000 births to Italy's 985,000 in 1937. For 1938 it is estimated that Italy's birth rate will pass the million mark while in France it will fall below 600,000.

Frenchmen today are repeating an old axiom culled from France's history as a growing nation and empire: "No lasting entente is possible between two neighboring powers when the population of one grows and the other diminishes."

Recognizing the power of an expansionist policy based on the statistics of a growing population, the French openly express the fear that inevitably Italy may begin to look with longing eyes on neighboring regions where there is plenty of room for the surplus population to move. The desire to make such regions Italian are recognized as strong.

The French are particularly anxious about lands which formerly belonged not to the old Roman Empire, but to the kingdoms which consolidated themselves into the Italy of today. They think particularly of Corsica which became French only in 1768 after long wars with the ruling house of Genoa; of Upper Savoy and the Alps Maritimes provinces (comprising the Riviera beyond Nice and the ridges of the Alps) which were taken by France in 1860 after the war with the kingdom of Savoy, and Tunisia which was conquered by France in 1881.

Worry Over Old Lands

Italy has never, thus far, begun an irredentist program for the restoration of former lands now incorporated in the French Empire, but the French are as worried about the possibilities of such a program in the Nice region as they are about Nazi propaganda in the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine which Adolf Hitler in his "Mein Kampf" declares to have been stolen by France and which must some day be reincluded in the German Empire.

Thus far the only definite pro-Italian movement well enough organized to be a menace is in Tunis. There are 120,000 Italian colonists in Tunisia and while they have not yet begun an open "anschluss" movement they are well organized in social and sporting associations which might be converted into political movements.

Bride-Elect Given Shower In Party at Nurses' Home

A delightful party last evening in the Hannah E. Mullins Nurses' home honored Miss Caroline Webber, whose wedding to Russell Limestahl will be solemnized late this month.

Miss Webber, daughter of Mrs. Emma Webber, South Broadway, and the late W. Frank Webber, is a practical arts instructor of student nurses at Salem City hospital. She is a graduate of the Salem High school and the City Hospital Nurses Training school. She has been associated with the hospital for the last eight years, formerly holding the position of floor supervisor.

Mr. Limestahl is the son of Mrs. Marie Limestahl of Woodland ave. and the late George W. Limestahl. A graduate of Salem High school, he is employed in the estimating department of the Mullins Manufacturing Corp. plant.

Miss Webber was presented a beautiful gift by Miss Esther Wilson, superintendent of the hospital, and her staff, while student nurses and others associated with her at the hospital gave her a shower of gifts.

A novel way of presenting the gifts was a telegram which directed Miss Webber to the garden, where she found a table holding one gift and a note which led her to a wheelbarrow filled with additional presents.

Guests at the affair played bridge and "500" during the evening and lunch was served at the card tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Echols Given Surprise

Twenty-two members of the Men's Brotherhood, of the St. John's Lutheran church at East Liverpool held a birthday surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Echols last evening.

Informal entertainment was enjoyed at Centennial park and refreshments were served later at the Echols home on E. Seventh st. Mrs. Echols was assisted by Mrs. James Cowan and daughter, Zella, and Mrs. A. H. Schropp.

A short business meeting was held when plans were made for a picnic next Tuesday at the Perry Hilliard farm on the Franklin rd. John Cobdash, H. E. Smith, J. A. Fehr and Leonard Echols will entertain the East Liverpool and Salem brotherhoods at that time.

Plans also were made for attending a Lutheran men's rally at Thompson park, East Liverpool, on Aug. 3.

Five members of the Salem brotherhood attended the surprise party.

Mrs. Harold Wykoff Named Delegate

Mrs. Harold Wykoff, president of the American Legion auxiliary, was named state convention delegate by the auxiliary unit at a meeting in the post home last night.

Mrs. Wykoff and several other members will attend the state conference from July 23 to 26 in Cincinnati.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the county council in Lisbon Friday night. A large attendance is desired. Those who plan to go are asked to notify Mrs. Everett Rich.

To permit members to attend the state convention, the last meeting of the month on July 26 has been cancelled. The next session will be Aug. 9.

Party Is Enjoyed At Country Club

Arthur and Otis Brian entertained a group of friends yesterday at the Salem Country club. Swimming and tennis were enjoyed in the afternoon and a picnic dinner was held. Guests danced at the clubhouse during the evening.

Guests included Miss Natalie Galbreath and brother William; Miss Patsy Chandler of Savannah, Ga.; Edward Clegg and William McCleary of Youngstown; Misses Elizabeth Anderson and Jeanette Haven of Chicago.

Hostesses For Bridge Party

Mrs. Stanton Heck and Mrs. Edward Heck entertained at a luncheon-bridge yesterday at their home on E. State st.

The luncheon tables were attractive with garden flowers. Eight tables of bridge were in play. Prize winners were Mrs. W. C. Windle, Mrs. John H. Benson and Mrs. Russell Gibbs.

Mrs. Harold Bramer of Washington, D. C., who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Stanton Heck, was a guest.

Wesley Davidson of the Damascus rd., is enjoying his annual 10-day vacation.

New Hats Practical as Well as Stylish

Smart straw number

Clever modern design

Picturesque chapeau

New hats worn this summer are comfortable as well as smart. Materials are varied and shapes and colors are most distinctive. Here are three of the clever new designs which have been created for the fashionable. The new chapeaux range from tiny off-the-face styles to huge floppy numbers quite at the other extreme. Smart thing to remember is selecting a shade which will blend with various colored scarfs and hat bands so that one's costume makes a harmonious ensemble.

HANOVERTON

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Betz of Cleveland are spending the summer at their home here.

Arthur Rush of Beverly Hills, Calif., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rush, over the weekend.

CITY PROPOSES $88,000 PROGRAM

Suggests Building of Filtration and Power Plant

Another problem, which has been on the increase in recent years, is coal mine water which has been getting into some of the wells. Filtration of all water would permit the city to sink wells in any location and the plan is to drill these as close to the waterworks plant as possible to reduce the cost of laying long pipelines.

The entire water situation was discussed at length and many pointed questions were directed at the engineer by the visitors and councilmen. Step by step the proposed new set-up was analyzed and some criticism was expressed.

Question Reserve Fund Depletion
Especially did the visitors question the advisability of depleting the reserve fund which has taken the water department 30 years to build up. They voiced the opinion that some reserve should be maintained for emergencies and expansions in the future. In the past this fund has been used to drill wells, extend water mains and other expansion and maintenance work. From it also came the money with which to pay off bonds and interest.

The bonded indebtedness had been reduced to $20,000 at the first of the present year. This is to be paid off at the rate of $5,000 a year, so that in three years after the present year the entire bonded indebtedness will be wiped out. Barkhoff said the waterworks department now is able to produce a profit of $10,000 a year, which will be increased when the bonds have been paid.

Some of those in the conference also questioned whether the engineer had made his estimates of costs of operation high enough. They pointed to his estimate of $3,653 a year for softening the water, in comparison with a cost of more than $13,000 a year in other Ohio cities about the size of Salem.

In view of these uncertainties in the minds of some councilmen and visitors, Barkhoff suggested that his figures be checked by an outside engineer and a filtration plant operator, so that he and the city could be sure they were approximately accurate.

Council called the visitors into the conference to acquaint them with the entire proposal and get their reaction. President Charles Cornwell indicated that a vote on the program probably would not be taken immediately by council.

In order that the federal grant be taken advantage of, the project would have to be submitted for PWA approval by Sept. 1.

Honor Birthdays
Five birthdays were observed at a picnic dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Denny and honored the birthdays of John Denny and Mrs. Arlan Hoopes, son Donald, and Mrs. Fred Schoeni and Mrs. Kenneth Hahlen.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schoeni and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hahlen and son of East Beach; Mr. and Mrs. John Zwalen of Beloit, and Mr. and Mrs. Arlan Hoopes and family.

German-American League Officials Are Found Guilty

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., July 13.—After deliberating less than two minutes, a Suffolk county jury on Tuesday convicted all six defendants and the German-American Settlement league on charges of violating the state civil rights law.

Judge L. Barron Hill immediately sentenced the defendants, officers and directors of the league, to near maximum penalties.

He also stated that he would request the district attorney's office to prepare minutes of the trial to forward to "the proper federal authorities" in Washington.

Judge Hill characterized certain phases of the testimony and actions of the defendants at the trial as "amazing," referring to the statement of one of the defendants who gave the Nazi salute to the American flag and when asked if that was the American salute replied:

"No, but it will be!"

Judge Hill sentenced Earnest Mueller of Brooklyn, president of the league, to serve one year in the county jail and fined him $500.

The other five defendants also were fined $500 and sentenced to one year in jail, but the jail sentences were suspended pending good behavior.

PRIMARY VOTES SHOW STRENGTH

Roosevelt Victory Indicated In Oklahoma Balloting

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13.—Sen. Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma's silver-haired New Deal favorite, widened his commanding lead today over two primary opponents in the first ballot-box test of President Roosevelt's political speaking tour.

Former Gov. W. H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, frowned upon by the President as "nationally known as a Republican," was running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Praises Thomas
Senator Thomas, seeking renomination for a third term, was acclaimed "my old friend" by the President. In his speech here Saturday, Mr. Roosevelt made only passing mention of E. W. Marland, New Deal governor running third to Thomas.

He offered no back-pat at all to Rep. Gomer Smith, apparent runner-up in the senate race. Smith voted against the President's reorganization bill and the administration farm act.

The unofficial count in 2,305 of the state's 3,522 precincts gave Thomas 143,017, Smith 105,459 and Marland 65,709.

Leon C. Phillips of Okemah, a New Deal legislator, pulled ahead of Murray and W. S. Key, former state WPA administrator, in the gubernatorial contest.

Murray, no New Dealer, introduced Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee, for a speech here in the 1936 presidential campaign.

The count in 2,420 precincts gave Phillips 109,506 votes; Key 102,141 and Murray 92,987. Two other aspirants, former Gov. Jack Walton and Ira Finley, president of the Veterans of Industry of America, were hopelessly behind.

Eight Democratic congressmen running for renomination held snug leads.

G. O. P. Voting Tight
On the Republican side, where voting was light in contrast to the heavy flood of Democratic ballots, Harry O. Glasser of Enid was leading three rivals for the senate nomination and Ross Ritzley, former state senator of Guymon, paced a field of three for the gubernatorial nomination.

Both Ritzley and Glasser were endorsed by a statewide Republican "grassroots" convention.

Straight pluralities nominated candidates.

FRANCE NEEDS GAS FOR WARS

Would Not Be Able to Go Into Long Battle Without U. S. Aid

PARIS, June 18.—France would not be able to carry on a prolonged war without importing huge quantities of gasoline from America.

This is a deduction that can be made from a recent private lecture before many of the military leaders of France by General Serrigny, head of the Mechanization Staff of the French army.
Seventy million tons of gasoline would be consumed in the first twelve months of a great European war, General Serrigny told his listeners. Peacetime consumption of Europe is only twenty-seven million tons.

Vast Total Consumption

For her fleet, air force and army, Great Britain would need thirty million tons in the first year and France another fifteen million. If Japan and America were to join in the conflict the total consumption would approximate the enormous figure of 140 million tons.
Russia's total annual output is only twenty-eight million tons so that France could not possibly count on help from that quarter in feeding the combined British and French air forces. It would therefore be necessary for France to obtain most of her supplies from the United States, provided the American government does not place gasoline on the list of war contraband.

Nazis Seek Synthetic Fuel

General Serrigny pointed out that Germany has been striving to create a supply of synthetic fuel, but the annual production on this has not passed one and a half million tons whereas Germany's minimum war-time requirements would be twelve million for the first twelve months. Cut off from American markets Germany would be obliged to seize Rumanian oil wells and perhaps those in Iraq and Caucasus as well.

The speaker said that Britain is placing little faith in synthetic fuel and is stocking gigantic reserves and multiplying the means of transport from overseas. He advocated the same procedure for France.

After the first year of warfare, consumption of fuel would jump by leaps and bounds above the already great requirements of the first twelve months.

Efforts To Form Commission Fail

LONDON, July 13.—The government announced today that its efforts to form an international commission to investigate air bombings of civilian centers in Spain had failed.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons that the scheme, in which the United States, France, Norway, Sweden and later the Netherlands had been asked to join, had been found "impossible."

Instead, he said, Britain would send a British mission of two men to Spain.
(The United States declined Britain's invitation and Sweden followed suit.)

Keenan Endorses Stephen M. Young

CLEVELAND, July 13.—Stephen M. Young, running for Democratic nomination as congressman at-large, said today he had received the endorsement of Joseph B. Keenan, assistant U. S. attorney general and a political adviser to the administration.
Young, a former congressman, seeks the seat of Congressman Harold G. Mosier, also a Democrat. The endorsement came in a letter from Keenan, Young said.

Favors Revamping Ohio Tax System

COLUMBUS, July 13.—Ohio could solve its school financing problems and overcome other tax difficulties by overhauling its tax system, L. E. Smart of Ohio State university told the third annual conference for the study of critical issues in public school administration Tuesday. He said no new taxes were necessary.
Smart urged a wholesale reorganization of tax revenues and discontinuance of the policy of "ear-marking" funds from certain taxes.

Stumps Stumpers

W. Lee O'Daniel

Chief surprise of the campaign for Democratic nomination as governor of Texas is the manner in which W. Lee O'Daniel, flour salesman who campaigns with a hillbilly band, is outstripping the 12 other candidates in the race. O'Daniel has been described as a "Huey Long with common sense" and may assume national political significance on the basis of present indications.

Suggests Construction of New Highways As Employment Aid

(By United Press)

HOMESTEAD, Pa.—The government can solve the unemployment problem, provide useful highways, develop a defense line in case of invasion and cultivate hitherto uncultivated lands, declares Fred L. Weghorst of Munhall, Pa.

Weghorst, former borough tax collector, theorizes that two broad ribbons of concrete from Atlantic to Pacific, and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, would do all these things.

He is proposing the construction of two huge highways—he calls his plan American Prosperity Crossroads—first as a means of taking up the slack in employment.

Sees Jobs for 10 Million

Such a project—and it's really immense—would employ 10,000,000 men, Weghorst believes.

In addition, it would provide a defense line to be set up in case of invasion. He would establish airports along the roads in each state. These would serve as army supply bases if an enemy comes to these shores.

Weghorst's east-west highway would start near Norfolk, Va., on the Atlantic seaboard, and would extend through North Carolina, along the borders of Tennessee and Kentucky, Arkansas and Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico, Utah and Arizona, into Nevada and end at Oakland, Calif.

The north-south road would extend from Winnipeg, in Canada, down to Port Arthur, Texas. It would touch the borders of North Dakota and Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, Kansas and Missouri, Oklahoma and Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana.

State Aid Suggested

"The federal government in conjunction with state leaders," Weghorst said, "would be asked to allocate approximately $2,000,000,000 for the extensive project, deemed to end unemployment for all time."

The road would be directed through certain uncultivated sections of the United States. This, Weghorst believes, would bring an influx of farmers with a need of new homes and business dwellings.

He suggests that a national park be located on the proposed highways near Joplin, Mo., and Pittsburg, Kan., where they would intersect. With the good road, Weghorst believes national parks would be a mecca for tourists.

Scott's Cigars Capture Third Round Championship In Class A Softball League

STOGIES SPANK EDISON TO COP ROUND HONORS

Cigars Post Sixth Win In As Many Games To Capture Title

Tucking away the third round championship of the Class A Softball league, Scott's Cigars trounced the Ohio Edison, 14 to 7, at Centennial park last evening for their sixth win in as many third round games.

The Cigars join the Old Timers and Ohio Edison as round champions of the senior circuit. The Old Timers captured the league's first round title, while the Ohio Edison was the winner of the second round.

These three teams and the winner of the fourth round title will meet at the close of the season in a play-off for the 1938 championship of the Class A league. The fourth round of the circuit opens tomorrow.

Seven errors by the Ohio Edison combined with 14 hits boosted the Cigars to last evening's title-clinching victory. The Stogies tallied in every inning, scoring twice in the first frame, three times in the second, once in the third, once in the fourth, four times in the fifth and three times in the sixth.

The Ohio Edison collected 12 hits, nearly as many as the Cigars, but was unable to capitalize on all of its safe blows.

Dale Ritchey went the full route on the mound for the Cigars, while Ward and Bailey alternated in pitching for the Ohio Edison.

Four-hit pitching by George Earley paced the Old Timers to a 2 to 1 victory over Demings in the other Class A game. It was the veterans' fifth victory in six third round games, leaving them in second position, one game behind the champion Cigars.

The Old Timers pounded out 10 hits to score two runs in the first inning, six in the second and one in the fourth. Demings tallied both of its markers in the fourth frame.

Andy Filip had a perfect evening at bat for the Old Timers, getting four hits in as many trips to the plate.

The first and second round champion Columbians of the Class B league registered their second straight win of the junior circuit's third round, noosing out the Friends, 1 to 0, in a tight battle.

The Columbians-Friends contest was featured by the fine pitching of William Guappone and Rohrer. The rival pitchers each held their opponents to four hits.

The Emmanuel Lutherans reaped their second victory in as many third round games in the other Class B tilt, beating the Baptists, 4 to 1. Bill Pauline hurled three-hit ball to lead the Emmanuel's to victory.

DETROIT RACE DRIVER FACES STATE RIVALS

Dauphin Renews Duel Sunday With Bonnell and Dale Cullison

CLEVELAND, July 13.—The best midget auto racing program ever presented at Sportsman's park speedway is what the Great Lakes Racing association, sponsors of the weekly rain or shine Great Lakes midget championship series, promises auto racing fans for next Sunday afternoon.

Howard Dauphin, the Detroit racing mite who roared the Offenhauser of Charlie Allen of Hollywood, Calif., to near record time in capturing last Sunday's feature, will be back to renew his duel with Al Bonnell of Erie, Pa., Dale Cullison of Salem, Danny Dominic of Youngstown, and other leaders in the title chase.

Bonnell escaped serious injury in finishing four lengths back of Dauphin last Sunday, driving the final 30-laps of the ten mile feature with a clogged radiator. Twice Bonnell's steamer was flagged off the track but the Erie pilot refused to give up. While racing officials and the crash squad watched tensely for his Cream White V-8 60 to explode on the final lap Bonnell kept driving with a lead foot and finished.

As he pulled into the pits, mechanics pulled him from the maze of steam, heat of which was cracking the leather upholstery of his cockpit, and overcome by gas fumes he collapsed alongside his racer. Artificial respiration was necessary to revive him.

Three Offenhausers of the type used by Ronney Householder of Van Nuys, Calif., when he set the world speed record for midgets at 128 mph last year on the Utah salt beds, have been entered for Sunday's program. Besides the Blue-32 which Dauphin will pilot again, the sister "Offey" also owned by Charles Allen of Hollywood and piloted by Harry Harris of Los Angeles, and that of Ohio Champion Art Hartsfield of Toledo have been entered for Sunday's events.

Seven races topped by a 40-lap feature of ten miles will be on the card. These daredevils of the dirt tracks from noon on will attempt to crack the track record of 17.91 seconds set last year by Detroit's Johnnie Bitter, as they qualify for pole positions.

Sportsman's Park Speedway is located on state route 8, the Cleveland-Akron highway, one mile south of Bedford.

List Program for Annual Fish and Game Field Day

County Sportsmen's Group Sponsors 19th Program At Guilford Lake Park Sunday

Eight events are listed on the program for the 19th annual field day of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association at Guilford lake park Sunday morning and afternoon.

Several hundred sportsmen from Columbiana and surrounding counties are expected to participate in the program. President Ralph Wang of North Georgetown announced. The events will start at 9 a. m. and continue throughout the day.

Assisting President Wang in arranging for the field day is a committee composed of Clyde Marshall, Henry Vess, T. E. Armstrong and Herbert Stewart of East Liverpool; C. L. Robinson and L. H. Johnson of Lisbon; J. S. Lambing of Wellsville, Roy Whinnery of Guilford, C. J. Loch of Salineville and C. R. Reese of Leetonia.

Following is the program for casting and shooting: PISTOL-RIFLE SHOTS (Supervised by the East Liverpool Rifle and Pistol club)—50-yards prone, iron sights; 50-yards prone, iron sights; 100-yards prone, iron sights; members only; 100-yards prone, any sights; 50-meter, prone, any sights; 50-meter, prone, iron sights; 25-yards off-hand, re-entry; 20-yards pistol, re-entry; muzzle-loading matches.

There will also be hog calling, nail driving and horseshoe pitching contests and races for boys and girls. Winners in all events will be awarded prizes.

accuracy, open; five-eighths ounce fisherman's accuracy; wet fly accuracy; dry fly and five-eighths ounce distance.

TRIBE DEFENSE BAD, SAYS VITT

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Oscar Vitt, lked about the 9-8 defeat by Washington which left Cleveland with only a half-game margin over New York, characterized the Indians today as the worst defensive team he has seen.

"Of the 26 games we've lost we've beaten ourselves out of 13," declared the Tribe manager. "I realize that the best of them kick away a game now and then, but the winners don't kick them away at the rate we've been following."

"I've been in baseball for nearly 30 years and I've never seen as bad a defensive team as this one—either in the majors or the minors."

Vitt declared that "Moose" Solters, in a hitting slump all season, would be benched for the remainder of the campaign after constant fielding miscues, and named Bob Feller to try to stop the Senators today.

Feller was likely to face Harry Kelley, the veteran right-hander who has pitched two shutouts in his last three starts.

Opening a crucial eastern invasion yesterday with a two-game margin over the New York Yankees, Cleveland contributed four runs to Washington by bad fielding and three more by bases on balls. The defeat, coupled with New York's twin victory over St. Louis, put the Tribe in the difficult position of attempting to keep ahead on enemy battlegroups.

The Tribe used Galehouse, Whitehill, Zuber and Humphries on the mound against the Senators.

4 Former Champs In Women's Golf

AKRON, July 13.—Four who have held the title, and four who'd like to hold it, battled in the second round of the 19th Ohio women's golf championship today at Portage Country club after winning opening round matches Tuesday.

The pairings: Janet Shook of Dayton vs Eva Shorb of Massillon.

Mrs. Linton Fallis of Toledo vs Mrs. Charles Barbaugh of Cleveland.

Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati vs Miss Sally Elson of Columbus.

Miss Mary K. Browne of Cleveland vs Mrs. Curtis Sohl of Columbus.

Mrs. Weil won the title in 1934, 1935 and 1936, but was shorn of her laurels last year by Miss Elson. Miss Browne was champion in 1931, while her foe, Mrs. Sohl, won in 1921 and 1929.

SERINO FACES MURDER COUNT

Pittsburgh Man Will Be Tried For Slaying Of Ohio Patrolman

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Gardner remanded Peter Serino, 22, of Pittsburgh, to Ohio penitentiary Tuesday to face charges in connection with the slaying of Highway Patrolman George Conn last September 27.

The court, however, granted Serino's counsel 24 hours in which to ask for a supersedeas to stop the extradition and appeal to the Pennsylvania supreme court.

His removal had been ordered by Gov. George H. Earle but his attorney, J. I. Simon, obtained a writ of habeas corpus.

Prior to the hearing, Simon had appealed to J. Edgar Hoover, Federal Bureau of Investigation chief, to stop the investigation by sending a representative with a confession Simon said was made by a member of the Brady gang, admitting the Conn killing. The FBI announced no member of the Brady gang had admitted the slaying.

Charles Ford, Pittsburgh Negro who implicated Serino in the slaying, testified today that Serino had been driving the car in which they and two other men and a girl were traveling near Freeport, O., at the time of the shooting.

Ford said Bernard Massula shot Conn after the patrolman asked Serino for his driver's and owner's licenses. Massula is in Harrison county jail at Cadiz, O., under indictment in the murder.

Att'y Alex Dombey of Columbus, O., representing the Ohio highway patrol, said Brooker Johnson, Negro, the fourth man, was serving a term in Ohio State penitentiary for another offense.

The girl, Bernice Bradley, has not been apprehended, Dombey said. Ford has been held in Ohio as a witness against Serino.

Theatre Attractions

Mary Astor, Herbert Marshall and Virginia Bruce in a scene from "Woman Against Woman" at the State Thursday only.

"Woman Versus Woman", pictureization of Margaret Calkins Bannings national magazine serial, "Enemy Territory", comes to the State theater for a one-day showing Thursday.

Virginia Bruce, Herbert Marshall and Mary Astor are seen in the three principal roles of the story of a second wife who tries to make a success of her marriage in spite of the enmity and antagonism of the first wife and the small town where they all live.

In prominent supporting roles are such names as Janet Beecher as Marshall's mother, Marjorie Rambeau as a senator's wife, Zeffie Tilbury as Miss Bruce's grandmother, Sarah Padden, Betty Ross Clarke, Dorothy Christy, Morgan Wallace and Joseph Crehan.

Miss Bruce Second Wife. Miss Bruce has the role of the second wife whom Marshall, the husband, brings back to the town where his first wife and small daughter live. Miss Astor, in the role of the first wife, determines his second marriage shall not be a success and misses no opportunity to make herself appear as the wronged, heart-broken, still-loving first wife.

She uses the daughter to maintain her hold on her former husband and in time succeeds in making both him and his young wife miserable. She turns the other women of the town against the new wife until Miss Bruce's existence becomes unbearable.

The young wife is tempted to quit but shows her mettle at a reception given by the town social leader when she accuses the first wife of putting on a continuous act.

The Grand's Thursday only feature is "Exiled to Shanghai", a story of the excitement and dangers of a newsreel cameraman's life. Wallace Ford, June Travis, Dean Jagger and Arthur Lake have the leading parts.

Exposes Promotion Scheme

Ford exposes a fly-by-night promotion company which exploits the possibilities of a newsreel television set with no actual foundation on fact. However, in discovering the fake set, Ford stumbles onto the real secret of newsreel television. The complications which lie in the way of his making his discovery a commercial success are many and exciting.

June Travis, playing the role of a slogan-contest winner who is confused by newspapers and newsreel men with a $100,000 sweepstakes winner, provides plenty of heart interest and laughs by her portrayal. How June and Wally finally get together gives the picture an exciting and highly-satisfying climax.

Concluding tonight at the State are "We're Going To Be Rich" featuring the English comedienne, Grace Fields, Victor McLaglen, and Brian Donlevy; and "Border G-Man" with George O'Brien in the leading role.

LONDON — The barracks of British soldiers are being modernized and made more comfortable. The first of the new-style barracks are being built for the Cameron Highlanders in the North of Scotland. They are equipped with concealed lighting, sleeping cubicles furnished in a "restful style".

CLEVELAND — Three-year-old Sheila Hahn fell 40 feet from the window of her bedroom, but suffered no injuries. She was sitting on the window sill swinging her heels when the screen gave way and she fell to a concrete drive below.

Clerk Of TVA Investigating Committee Doing Real Work

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—W. C. Heffernan, who rose from the southern Ohio hills to prominence in banking and business circles, is doing much of the real work of the congressional committee investigating the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Heffernan, born in Ripley, O., was named clerk of the important committee by Sen. Vic Donahey (D-Ohio), chairman.

"He is a master," said Donahey, "at details that would overcome the average man."

Long before the committee started its inquiry, Heffernan went to the Tennessee valley to establish headquarters at Knoxville preliminary to a summer tour of the region by committee members.

Heffernan's appointment as clerk increased to three the number of Ohioans participating in the investigation, which resulted chiefly from the removal of another Ohioan, Dr. Arthur Morgan, as TVA director.

Besides Donahey, the state has one other member on the committee, Rep. Thomas Jenkins (R).

Donahey joined Heffernan in the south recently after the hard-working clerk had completed establishment of headquarters and organization of office personnel for the opening of the "first hand" inquiry.

The senator expected to remain in the valley post most of the summer. Jenkins said he would join the committee at Knoxville after a visit at his home in Ironton. He must divide his time between committee work and his campaign for re-nomination.

Announce Approval Of Power Projects For Municipalities

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Secretary Ickes announced today approval of 24 municipal power projects.

In granting funds to help finance their construction, the secretary said none would compete with private facilities.

Total construction costs will amount to $13,155,848, the PWA administrator said. Of this sum the PWA will advance $9,161,834.

The projects range from the extension of existing municipal facilities to the installation of power facilities in connection with a sewage treatment plant.

They included a $756,000 grant for a $1,696,977 construction project at the Cleveland municipal light plant.

More Indictments Appear For Probe

COLUMBUS, July 13.—Additional indictments for violation of civil service laws may be handed up today by the grand jury investigating "assessments" by Gov. Martin L. Davey's campaign managers on state employees, an informed source asserted today.

The informant, who has been associated with the grand jury, indicated the nature of the indictments, if handed up, would be kept secret temporarily.

Another person close to the investigation asserted, "Things are about to pop again."

The jury recently returned indictments against seven lieutenants of the Davey campaign force.
